CHRISTMAS "JOY" OPPOSED.

Liquor Dealers May Curtail Gifts Over the Bax.

The Federation of Liquor Dealers, of the District at its regular meeting passed resolutions deprecating the giving of Christmas presents, especially liquor, to their patrons, as being demoralizing and unbusinesstike.

The meeting expressed itself strongly in favor of the growing custom of voluntary closing of business by retail liquor dealers at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Christmas and New Year's days, because of the opportunity it affords proprietors, employes, and patrons to spend a part of those days in their homes.

In less than three minutes the fire was and only the light from the firemen's lanterns, throwing a glare on the film of smoke, could be seen from the treet. But when the members of No. 1 ngine company first saw the fire in the an alarm was sounded from sox No. 146, that sufficient men and apparatus might be on hand to stop a large fire had the blaze gained headway.

More Companies Respond. Just as the No. 1 men were stamping out the last sparks the air was filled with the clang of the downtown apparatus responding to the box alarm, and engine companies 1, 2, 14, 16, and 23, truck companies 2 and 3, the water tower, Second Battalion Chief Henry, and Deputy Chief Sullivan reached the scene Such was the array of fire-fighting men and machines prepared to stop the progress of the fire, but No. 1 company was the only one to go into action

There was but a handful of fire near he coffee urns in the rear of the lunch oom, and the damage of the flames, moke, and water did not exceed $150, but veteran firemen who inspected the room and adjacent buildings were of the opinion that "if that little blaze had just got a little more start there would have en hot work stopping it.'

There is a small areaway in the rear f the lunch-room, forming a sort of airshaff for the group of buildings hudiled on the western extremity of the block, and the flames were making toward that areaway when the water was turned on. Had the fire reached the areaway, it would have opened an air draft, which would have carried the flames upward and into five or six buildings at the same time.

One official of the police department rouchsafed the opinion that the fire would have razed the western half of the block had it burned thirty minutes longer before being discovered by the absentminded reporter who forgot his gloves.
